Plato

The rhythm of the darabukka and plaintive notes of the ney first enticed Melusina's hips to sway in the mid 1990's. Since then she has maintained a passionate love for Middle Eastern dance that has motivated her to devote much of her life to the study, practice and teaching of this beautiful art form.

Melusina has studied intensively under many inspirational teachers of varying styles of bellydance both here in Australia and overseas. Her fondness for both classical Egyptian dance and Contemporary Tribal Styles has extended her studies to Egypt and America.

She has an impressive history of performing experience, dancing at many high profile events including working in television, festivals, concerts and at functions both around Australia and internationally. She is a popular instructor and choreographer who regularly travels to teach workshops.

Melusina's style is unique and passionate, demonstrating technical precision and musicality with a strong emotive presence. Melusina is best known for her expertise in sword dancing, her innovative tribal fusion style and her expressive classical technique.
